
What is this seminar about?

At a time when a person suffers a loss of memory or loss of life, family members may be faced with the daunting task of having to find important information such as banking details, passwords, particular desires for funeral arrangements, location of wills etc. Understandably, this can quickly become a significant source of stress for the person charged with gathering the information.

This seminar provides participants with a comprehensive resource for organizing their personal wishes and information in a non-threatening, user-friendly format. It is geared at helping a person collate their personal information and wishes, and by doing so, ensure that this information is readily available at the moment it is needed, thus reducing stress at a potentially stressful time.

Registrants receive comprehensive information in a user-friendly format. By the end of the seminar, participants will have the skills and know-how to organize their information in such a way that they and their loved ones have confidence and peace of mind that, if something should happen, nothing of importance and/or value will be overlooked.

About the instructor:

Margaret Meush brings a life-time of practical and theoretical experience and expertise to this work shop.

Margaret began her career as a Registered Nurse delivering health care at the grass roots level; later moving into education and training of nurses in her role as Asst. Director of Nursing Education, and then into administration in quality assurance and systems management.

In 1992 she graduated from the University of Manitoba with a Bachelor of Arts Degree with Distinction with a major in Psychology, and minor in Sociology. In her retirement Margaret successfully completed a tax course and is comfortable discussing taxation issues.

In addition to her academic qualification, Margaret has significant practical experience in presenting workshops on quality management, standards and accreditation matters.

She is a passionate and compassionate person who, upon seeing a need, makes a careful and methodical assessment of the situation, charts a course to address the need and puts that plan into action.

St. Stephen's will be following up the 'Hit By A Bus' seminar with a funeral planning workshop.

The Workshop will take place on October 16th immediately following the 10 am service.
Please bring a bagged lunch.

During this workshop the Rev Liz Richens will lead attendees in pre planning their funeral service. This will ensure that the scripture, hymnody and prayers that hold meaning and depth for each individual are recorded for the information of those who will be organizing the funeral service.

For those who have already got a preplanned service on file, this is an opportunity to update your plan and/or ensure things are as they should be.

Please register your name with Tracy in the office.
There are no fees for this workshop

Funeral Planning
Workshop
Grace Lutheran Church
211 Kimberly Ave.
Thursday October 20th
at 7 p.m.

Is your family aware of what you want said/sung/served at your funeral?
Do they know what you would like written in your obituary?
This evening is a chance for you to come and have fun filling out some forms highlighting these topics.
Bring your family so they can do theirs at the same time.

Treats and beverages will be served.
There is no cost for this.

To register call Karen Colquhoun at Grace , 204-661-2562 and leave a message on her answering machine.

A good time will be had by all!!

Note: Pastor Bruce has found this form very helpful when helping a family plan their loved ones funeral.
